N. F. A. READY FOR BULKELEY

Team Given a Drill of More Than Two Hours Friday—Students Will Turn Out in a Body Accompanied By a Drum Corp—The Betting is in Favor of Bulkeley.

For more than two hours Friday afternoon the N. F. A. football team was drilled by Coach Overhag. At a mass meeting held in the Slater hall practically the whole school turned out and practiced the cheers and songs. A very inspiring remarks were given by Principal Tinsell, Coach Overhag, P. S. Bunnell and R. V. Congdon. The school intends to turn out in a body today, girls included, and with the assistance of a drum corps intend to make some noise.

Manager Mulkins has a squad working on the field this week and reports that it is in readiness for the battle. He has secured a referee from the Springfield Training school, and Keefe of New London will umpire.

The betting public seems to favor Bulkeley, although with the last few days much favoritism has been shown towards the academy.

JOHNSON AGREES TO FIGHT JESS WILLARD
Colored Champ Wants $30,000 and Percentage of Moving Pictures.

Jack Johnson has agreed to fight Jess Willard for the heavyweight championship of the world. Or to be more exact, Jack will fight for $30,000 cash and a goodly percentage of the moving pictures, in return for which he will give Jess ample opportunity to endeavor to annex the title which Johnson now holds.

Tom Jones, who is in New York with the syndicate which is backing Willard, Thursday night received the following cablegram from Johnson:

"Ready to sign immediately. Come on over. Be sure to get here before the ninth. I want $30,000 and 10 per cent of the pictures. Will fight on a telegraph wire."

After exhibiting the cablegram Jones said:

"Either Jack Curley or I will sail for London early next week. Johnson is at St. Mary's Parish, Lexington, London, and will wait there until the nineteenth, when he has some contracts to fulfill."

"So far as we are concerned the match is on. We've been corresponding with Johnson and his cablegram is final consent to the match. We expect to hold the contest at Juarez, Mexico, which is just across the border from El Paso, Tex. He soon the match will be held it is as yet impossible to say, but Johnson is in pretty good condition, and unless he is tied up with theatrical contracts on the other side the contest will be held this winter."

"He is in Kansas City just now, but may be back on Saturday. I'll be tied up with Galsgott until after his fight with Freddy Welsh at the Tank on Monday night, and don't believe I'll be able to make the trip, so it is pretty certain that Curley will go over. Johnson has always listened to Curley, and the latter knows just how to handle the champion."

"And by the way, I think that you're going to get a big surprise on Monday night when Ad meets Freddy. The little fellow from Cadillac has been training harder than ever before, and he's just overflowing with confidence. You see, he realizes now what he lost when he lost the title and this will be his last chance to regain it. Only tonight Ad was planning what he'd do when the theatrical managers come after him."

"No more stage stuff for me," he said. "When I grab that title again I'm going to profit by my own experiences, and I'll be a long time before I'll lose it fairly, not on a fluke."

The battle of Chickamauga, Civil war, engaged 137,000 men, of whom 34,000 were killed or wounded.

Of the numerous football games scheduled for eastern gridirons tomorrow four stand out as being of unusual interest. The Harvard-Michigan contest at Cambridge carries with it the chief attention of the day, because of the prominence of the universities represented on the field and the intense rivalry and rivalry centered in the struggle.

When the Harvard-Michigan game was arranged last winter the contest promised to bring together two eleven representing in every sense of the word eastern and western standards of football play and coaching. Harvard had the advantage in veterans, but the west planned its faith to the ability of Coach Frost to develop players to the point where they could give the Harvard team a good fight.

The years and scores of the games between these two universities are as follows:

1881, Harvard 4, Michigan 0.
1883, Harvard 3, Michigan 0.
1885, Harvard 4, Michigan 0.
The leading eastern football games tomorrow with the 1913 scores where the same colleges met last year follow:

Michigan at Harvard, did not play.
Colgate at Yale, 16-6.
Williams at Princeton, did not play.
Swarthmore at Pennsylvania, 9-20.
Syracuse vs. Carlisle Indians at Buffalo, 27-38.
Vermont at Brown, 0-19.
Holy Cross at Cornell, did not play.
Amherst at Dartmouth, 7-21.
Penn. State at Lafayette, did not play.
Villa Nova at Army, 0-55.
North Carolina A. & M. at Navy, did not play.

HARVARD PLAYERS APPEAR IN NEW HEAD GEAR
Crimson Men Will be Protected by Newly Designed Helmets.

The Harvard helmet, designed for the absolute protection of the head and neck of all members of the Crimson football team, will make its first appearance at the Michigan-Harvard game today. The Harvard players, with three-quarters of their head covered by the thick leather protectors, will hardly be recognized from the Stadium, but the head coach insists that his men be protected from all possible injuries with the tag-end of the Cambridge schedule filled with hard contests.

The new helmet was designed by Dr. Paul Withington, assistant graduate treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association. It covers the whole of the forehead, leaving the face from the eyebrows down to the chin visible, and reaches down the back of the neck of each player. The men look like a troupe of deep-sea divers in their helmets, but they have no danger of danger of hard knocks while playing their game.

Each Harvard player will go into all future games with from seven to eight pounds of protective paraphernalia on his body, not including elastic bandages, wrist straps and the like that some of the men also put on. The new helmet alone weighs nearly three pounds, the knee pads that the Crimson wear weigh a half pound each, and the shoulder pads of thick leather and padding are more than three pounds apiece.

It was said tonight that while Ma-han was in good playing condition and might be put into the game for any reason, the Harvard football authorities were not disposed to take unnecessary chances of another injury to him, and the Harvard team would go in as a halfback tomorrow. Hardwick's place at end will be taken by Smith.

Rutgers college has opened negotiations with Washington and Jefferson for a game to be played on Nov. 15, an open date on the Rutgers schedule. Both colleges have made an excellent showing on the gridiron this fall and a contest between them would probably be well attended.

Ticket scalpers already have made preparations to profit by the Minnesota-Chicago football game at Chicago, Nov. 21. The tickets have not yet been printed, but it is said four well known scalpers admitted that reservations could be made and at least one of them stated the exact number.
